Key Terms

SWIFT/BIC CODE

SWIFT codes (or SWIFT-BIC, BIC code, SWIFT ID) are the standard format of Bank Identifier Codes approved by the International Organization for Standardization (ISO). It is the unique identification code of a particular bank. These codes are used when transferring money between banks, particularly for international wire transfers.

The SWIFT code is 8 or 11 characters, made up of:

- 4 characters - bank code (only letters)
- 2 characters - ISO 3166-1 alpha-2 country code (only letters)
- 2 characters - location code (letters and digits) (if the second character is '1', then it denotes a passive participant in the SWIFT network)
- 3 characters - branch code, optional ('XXX' for primary office) (letters and digits). Where an 8-digit code is given, it may be assumed that it refers to the primary office

IBAN/INTERNATIONAL BANK ACCOUNT NUMBER

The International Bank Account Number (IBAN) is an international standard for identifying bank accounts across national borders.

The IBAN imposes a flexible but regular format for account identification and contains validation information to avoid errors of transcription.

The IBAN's primary purpose is to facilitate cross-border inter-bank routing and avoid routing errors.

The IBAN consists of a 2-digit country code, followed by two check digits and up to thirty alphanumeric characters for the domestic bank account number, called the BBAN (Basic Bank Account Number). It is up to each country's national banking community to decide on the length of the BBAN for accounts in that country, but its length must be fixed for any given country. Further specifics regarding different country IBAN lengths and characteristics are detailed within this guide.

BANK CODE

A Bank Code (which may be known as a routing code) is a code assigned by a central bank or other authority. The rules vary to great extent between countries. Also, the name of such a code varies.

Examples:

- United States - Routing Number or ABA Number
- Canada - Transit Number
- United Kingdom - Sort Code
- Australia/New Zealand - BSB Code (Bank State Branch)
- India - Indian Financial System Code (IFSC)
- Honk Kong - Hong Kong Branch Code
- Singapore - Singapore Branch Code

The bank code typically appears on the bottom of negotiable instruments such as checks identifying the financial institution on which it was drawn.
